Combining Sentences—Compound Subjects and Verbs

You know that a sentence has a subject and a verb. The subject can be more than one person or thing—compound subject. Also, a sentence can be about a subject that is doing more than one thing—compound verb.

Examples: Joseph and his sister are going out to play in the snow. Mark went to the store and bought cookies.

Combine the sentences by making a compound subject.

1. Jessica rode the train. Mark rode the train.

2. Elizabeth likes to eat vegetables. Kevin likes to eat vegetables.

3. Mom wrapped the presents. Ian helped mom wrap the presents.

4. Pam went swimming in the pool. Her sister went swimming in the pool, too.

Combine the sentences by making a compound verb.

6. Jeff went to the carnival. Jeff rode the roller coaster.

7. Mary sat down at the table. Mary ate pizza for dinner.

8. Will brushed his teeth. Will combed his hair.

10. The dog barked at me. The dog wagged his tail.
You know that a sentence has a subject and a verb. The subject can be more than one person or thing—compound subject. Also, a sentence can be about a subject that is doing more than one thing—compound verb.

Examples:

Joseph and his sister are going out to play in the snow.
Mark went to the store and bought cookies.

Combine the sentences by making a compound subject.

1. Jessica rode the train. Mark rode the train.
   Jessica and Mark rode the train.

2. Elizabeth likes to eat vegetables. Kevin likes to eat vegetables.
   Elizabeth and Kevin like to eat vegetables.

3. Mom wrapped the presents. Ian helped mom wrap the presents.
   Mom and Ian wrapped the presents.

4. Pam went swimming in the pool. Her sister went swimming in the pool, too.
   Pam and her sister went swimming in the pool.

   Jordan and Kelvin play basketball.

Combine the sentences by making a compound verb.

6. Jeff went to the carnival. Jeff rode the roller coaster.
   Jeff went to the carnival and rode the roller coaster.

7. Mary sat down at the table. Mary ate pizza for dinner.
   Mary sat down at the table and ate pizza for dinner.

8. Will brushed his teeth. Will combed his hair.
   Will brushed his teeth and combed his hair.

   Mrs. Jones sat in her chair and read a book.

10. The dog barked at me. The dog wagged his tail.
    The dog barked at me and wagged his tail.