An idiom is a group of words that have a specific meaning, but if you take them apart, they do not have the same meaning.

Example: Mrs. Thomas is on the ball because she is always prepared.

“On the ball” does not have a literal meaning—Mrs. Thomas is not on top of a ball. “On the ball” means that she is prepared and on time.

Exercise:
Choose an idiom from the word bank to match each statement.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>See eye to eye</th>
<th>costs an arm and a leg</th>
<th>a penny for your thoughts</th>
<th>the last straw</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>cut corners</td>
<td>missed the boat</td>
<td>best of both worlds</td>
<td>sitting the fence</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1. Someone might say this when several bad things have already happened and something else happens. That last bad thing that happened was __________________________.

2. If someone doesn’t understand something at all, even though others do, that person has __________________________.

3. If you are making a project and you decide that you can skip some steps to save time, someone else might say that you have __________________________.

4. If something is very expensive, your mom might say that it __________________________.

5. If you completely agree with someone else about something, then the two of you __________________________.

6. If you want to know what someone else is thinking, you might say that you will give them __________________________.

7. If two of your friends disagree about something, and you are trying not to take sides, they might say that you are __________________________.

8. If you want to join the basketball team, but you don’t want to have to practice four days out of the week, your dad might tell you that you can’t have __________________________.
Idiom is a group of words that have a specific meaning, but if you take them apart, they do not have the same meaning.

Example: Mrs. Thomas is on the ball because she is always prepared.

“On the ball” does not have a literal meaning—Mrs. Thomas is not on top of a ball. “On the ball” means that she is prepared and on time.

Exercise:
Choose an idiom from the word bank to match each statement.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>See eye to eye</th>
<th>costs an arm and a leg</th>
<th>a penny for your thoughts</th>
<th>the last straw</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>cut corners</td>
<td>missed the boat</td>
<td>best of both worlds</td>
<td>sitting the fence</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1. Someone might say this when several bad things have already happened and something else happens. That last bad thing that happened was ___the last straw______.

2. If someone doesn’t understand something at all, even though others do, that person has ___missed the boat______________________.

3. If you are making a project and you decide that you can skip some steps to save time, someone else might say that you have ___cut corners______________________.

4. If something is very expensive, your mom might say that it ___costs an arm and a leg______.

5. If you completely agree with someone else about something, then the two of you ___see eye to eye______________________.

6. If you want to know what someone else is thinking, you might say that you will give them ___a penny for your thoughts______________________.

7. If two of your friends disagree about something, and you are trying not to take sides, they might say that you are ___sitting the fence______________________.

8. If you want to join the basketball team, but you don’t want to have to practice four days out of the week, your dad might tell you that you can’t have ___the best of both worlds______.