

Name: _____

Date: _____

Idioms

An idiom is a group of words that have a specific meaning, but if you take them apart, they do not have the same meaning.

Example: Mrs. Thomas is on the ball because she is always prepared.

“On the ball” does not have a literal meaning—Mrs. Thomas is not on top of a ball. “On the ball” means that she is prepared and on time.

Exercise:

Choose an idiom from the word bank to match each statement.

See eye to eye	costs an arm and a leg	a penny for your thoughts	the last straw
cut corners	missed the boat	best of both worlds	sitting the fence

1. Someone might say this when several bad things have already happened and something else happens. That last bad thing that happened was _____.
2. If someone doesn't understand something at all, even though others do, that person has _____.
3. If you are making a project and you decide that you can skip some steps to save time, someone else might say that you have _____.
4. If something is very expensive, your mom might say that it _____.
5. If you completely agree with someone else about something, then the two of you _____.
6. If you want to know what someone else is thinking, you might say that you will give them _____.
7. If two of your friends disagree about something, and you are trying not to take sides, they might say that you are _____.
8. If you want to join the basketball team, but you don't want to have to practice four days out of the week, your dad might tell you that you can't have _____.

Name: _____

Date: _____

ANSWERS--Idioms

An idiom is a group of words that have a specific meaning, but if you take them apart, they do not have the same meaning.

Example: Mrs. Thomas is on the ball because she is always prepared.

“On the ball” does not have a literal meaning—Mrs. Thomas is not on top of a ball. “On the ball” means that she is prepared and on time.

Exercise:

Choose an idiom from the word bank to match each statement.

See eye to eye	costs an arm and a leg	a penny for your thoughts	the last straw
cut corners	missed the boat	best of both worlds	sitting the fence

1. Someone might say this when several bad things have already happened and something else happens. That last bad thing that happened was the last straw.
2. If someone doesn't understand something at all, even though others do, that person has missed the boat.
3. If you are making a project and you decide that you can skip some steps to save time, someone else might say that you have cut corners.
4. If something is very expensive, your mom might say that it costs an arm and a leg.
5. If you completely agree with someone else about something, then the two of you see eye to eye.
6. If you want to know what someone else is thinking, you might say that you will give them a penny for your thoughts.
7. If two of your friends disagree about something, and you are trying not to take sides, they might say that you are sitting the fence.
8. If you want to join the basketball team, but you don't want to have to practice four days out of the week, your dad might tell you that you can't have the best of both worlds.